

The FEDs Residue

Problem -- 2,000,000 children age 5-6 start kindergarten each year with three quarter, half and quarter “early educations” demonstrating outcomes from less than best practice efforts to deliver early reading skills. Kids and mom are missing a positive expectation. Leaders, moms and kids do not see the FED’s residue as their solution. Understanding www.usavaluesii2.com

The incremental resources to fix this Gap are residue from the problem, Currencies already exist, but are viewed as historically off limits. Bankers don’t see the solution reflects off the FEDs excess profits. Understanding www.usavaluesii2.com.

Start using the Email MARCH on the Federal Reserve Board of Governor’s Monetary Policy. The currency exists. It is already approved in the private sector as interest income accumulates but then short circuits to nothing in the top level economic cycles. The FED is swimming with what to do with the urban economies lack of growth. Ideas include using its authority to drop currency on citizens who will spend it offset by increasing interest rates where it can be sustained. In other words urban locations are in the first case not growing and have not been stimulated but the balance of the nation is reacting to normal tools.

Private sector can expect nothing sustainable in urban locations until most important Early Reading Skills Are Delivered for a Ringing Advantage (ERSD-RA) and ERSD starts to be achieved individually for those in the gap. It must work under the direction of a mentor guiding the effort to be certain of the outcome. We especially need highest quality outcomes measured against the best as soon as possible and this spending of special currency will pay for itself.

- The gap is not workable into the future, most unfair, economic price is paid later without commitment of leaders and urban moms with at risk children.
- **The idea is to do both problems with the new special currency from the Federal Reserve Bank, because it is free. It pays for itself right there in kindergarten AND pays for itself again within the concept of monetary policy as mom demonstrates a positive expectation for growth.

- Is mom interested in a new outlook and influence on her age 0-6 children first things first?
- Is mentor interested in a new business of outcomes?
- Business will be interested outside the narrow dedicated few because it is workable, free, has huge return and positive expectation for normal monetary tooling.

Go all the way to age 0-6 to protect the children. The real work in the USA's Foundation of Growth is the child for the 21st century; and the best work has not even started; and best can't start without the trust; mom's need the safety and security; whole community work on ERSD-RA is that security; it cannot be done without everyone pulling in the direction of absolute best effort and outcomes lead by the private sector.

Urban mom and her imperative -- Many of her children start kindergarten REALLY behind, (2,000,000 of them) and those scars are next to death permanent. The new currency exists for the capacity constraint but is locked up by the top bank, not being used in the fix when half the nation needs it. Injustice that scars us, after repeating and repeating because the FED does not act with urban mom on first things first, Literacy is Freedom. Best practice solutions are preventative and the FED allows the private sector to start too late for many.

This is the information www.usavaluesII2.com The FED has the currency for a new deal for "urban" mom. It will trigger the growth delivered by the private sector for the equal start of age 0-6 children. The Federal Reserve Banks are the proxy for the private sector and only they decide who benefits from their Monetary Policy.

Purchase a reminder to quarterly point out to the Federal Reserve Banks in an email march of sorts that the private sector proxy is the Federal Reserve Bank. Its Board of Governors is the only organization large enough to give the gift of early reading skills to urban mom for her children and equalize opportunity for all. They don't want to hear this but they know it is true.

So what would the Federal Reserve Banks do with 1,000,000 emails telling them how important they are to equality.
